

Amazing Brain - Addiction

The Amazing Brain series offers exciting answers about how our brain works and why we respond to the world the way we do. Questions addressed in this 4-vol. set include: Do male and female brains work differently? Can music enhance learning and boost brain development? Was Einsteins brain more unique than the average brain? What dependencies are really true addictions? Can brain cells regenerate? These and many other fascinating questions are answered in this up-to-date series on the human brain. Also included is a glossary and resources for further study. Learn about the latest experiments and research into our sense of smell. Did you know that we shift our sense of smell from one nostril to the other throughout the day? Did you know that because astronauts in orbit are deprived of gravitational sensing, they are actually experiencing a continuous state of free fall? Did you know that scientists think they have found the brains center for telling right and wrong and they may know how it works!
